

To Give Back

UNIVERSITY of the CORDILLERAS
BAGUIO CITY, PHILIPPINES

yesUCan!

- |                 |     |             |                 |                         |                            |                            |  |   |         |                   |        |
|-----------------|-----|-------------|-----------------|-------------------------|----------------------------|----------------------------|--|---|---------|-------------------|--------|
| Graduate School | Law | Accountancy | Arts & Sciences | Business Administration | Criminal Justice Education | Engineering & Architecture | Hotel, Restaurant Management & Tourism | Information Technology & Computer Science | Nursing | Teacher Education | EITEAP |
|-----------------|-----|-------------|-----------------|-------------------------|----------------------------|----------------------------|--|---|---------|-------------------|--------|

Here to Serve . . .
... these mountain highlands.

Deeply grateful to --- our home --- the City of Baguio and the Cordillera.

Privileged to serve the nation . . . from the majestic setting of these mountain highlands.

There is no day that passes at UC without a reminder to our collective university community --- that we have a responsibility and a call to serve & "give back," in services and resources, to our home community & region --- the City of Baguio and the Cordillera.

This Is Who We Are.

"To Serve", and "To Give Back" constitutes the "DNA," the genetic imprint of the University of the Cordilleras.

This characteristic can be traced to the enduring vision & legacy of the founders of UC.

Our Founders invested all their assets in Baguio Colleges Inc., when it was established in 1946. They never took out the original capital, nor any of the earnings of the original investment.

In 1967, our Founders went beyond "leaving the capital and its earnings." Acting on their conviction that educating the youth of the land is a noble privilege, over and above that of proprietary interests, they decided to reorganize Baguio Colleges Incorporated, forming in its place, a foundation. They then donated all their corporate and personal assets to the Baguio Colleges Foundation, the entity which has evolved into the University of the Cordilleras of today.

UC therefore is a school that "gives it all back."

Nothing Taken Out; Every Resource Reinvested.

This is the vision and legacy that governs UC today. Each and every school year, UC has reinvested and continues to reinvest all its revenue and earnings back to UC operations.

As a consequence of the vision of UC's founders, UC is a school with no shareholders. It is a school that is able to conduct its business without being burdened by the pressure of shareholders. At the initiative of its founders, UC has been liberated from the obligation of serving the "bottom line."

Having statutorily relinquished ownership, the organizational energy and resources is thus devoted solely and fully to upgrading university standards. The intention was that --- this would lead to a path of excellence for the university's academic degree programs.

Having voluntarily relinquished ownership benefits, the fruit of corporate operations, thus, gravitates and inures, as a natural consequence, to the university constituency, i.e., the students, the faculty, the staff, the parents, the alumni and ultimately, to UC's home community, the city and region.

The management successors of the UC founders, while inheriting corporate control over the foundation, have been transformed from traditional shareholders to faithful stewards of UC's vision and legacy.

UC today strives to avoid acting like "an ivory tower"; isolated and oblivious to the concerns and conditions of its home community and region.

Our Intentions.

We intend to substantiate the UC founders' vision and legacy in concrete terms, particularly in the form of human development projects of significant impact throughout the city and region.

This we commit and pledge, with deep humility and with a deep respect for the proud people of these mountain highlands, particularly acknowledging the myriad Cordillera culture and traditions. We make this commitment and pledge today : --- as we end one school year --- and begin a new one.

A Noble Privilege.

We are deeply honored to be granted the privilege of providing opportunities for the youth of the land.

On behalf of the entire university community:

Jesus Benjamin Salvosa
UC Chair/CEO

• The UC Flagship Building Complex. • Embodying UC's Enduring Aspirations. •

yesUCan!

• We Are Pleased to Present
Our New Licensed Civil Engineers •

yesUCan!

Engr. Royce D. Agabas

Engr. Benedict B. Ammogawen

Engr. Alfe B. Andres

Engr. Adams D. Antero

Engr. Jerry S. Bachicha

Engr. Pablo Jr. K. Balachawi

Engr. Charlie A. Basali

Engr. Glenford L. Binay-an

Engr. Cambell A. Calawen

Engr. Jefferson B. Estabillo

Engr. Jona A. Gamongan

Eng. Ronaldo L. Gapuz

Engr. Vener R. Garcia

Engr. Zachary A. Guisdan

Engr. Jemah Claire D. Hangdaan

Engr. Clyde K. Kadchao

Engr. Sherwin T. Kege-e

Engr. Rishel A. Kilaban

Engr. Baddy M. Laoyan

Engr. John A. Molina

Engr. Edgar S. Monoten

Engr. Lionel B. Ngolob

Engr. Cherry Venus J. Palma

Engr. Jerson E. Polon

Engr. Jessie B. Ramos

Engr. Algie C. Sangdaan

• Exams Conducted : May 7 & 8, 2009 •
• Results Released : May 13, 2009 •

yesUCan!

• We Are Pleased to Present
Our New Certified Public Accountants •

yesUCan!

Jinalen Labarento Abarquez, CPA

Jayb Lodias Amponget, CPA

Gederuth Binayan Bantales, CPA

Annaliza Abrenica Canilang, CPA

Beverlyn Binga Eke, CPA

Farida Dimas Romillo, CPA